FULL CUP Our new Full Cup icon makes it easier than ever to find sexy bras that fit your figure. Look for sizes DD and up. Find Your Perfect Size. Your bra size is comprised of two parts: your BAND SIZE and your CUP SIZE. For best results, measure yourself wearing an unlined or lightly lined bra.

1. BAND SIZE. Using a tape measure, measure tightly around your body directly below your bust, resting the tape on the lower band of your bra. Make sure the tape is snug and straight, in front and back. Add 5 to this measurement to obtain your band size. For example, if your bustline measures 29, add 5 to equal 34." If your band size is an odd number (ex. 33"), round up to the next even band size (34"), although you may also want to try the lower band size (32").

2. CUP SIZE. Now loosely measure around the fullest part of your bust, making sure the tape is straight and not too tight. Each inch of difference equals one cup size. For example, if your band size is 34" and your bust measures 36", you wear a B cup (2" = B).

If the difference is: _____
 5" 6" _____
 Then your cup size is: A B C D DD F
